ORIGINS

The Hyde and Watson Foundation was incorporated on January 14, 1983, through the consolidation of The Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation and The John Jay and Eliza Jane Watson Foundation.

Lillia Babbitt Hyde (1856-1939) was the younger daughter of Benjamin Talbot Babbitt, an ambitious entrepreneur and inventor who built his fortune in a spectacular business career. He was a skilled master mechanic, chemist, brilliant salesman, and shrewd financier. He prospered in the chemical industry and successfully developed and manufactured such products as baking soda, “Star Yeast Powder,” and “Babbitt's Best Soap.” He died in 1889 at 80 years of age, and left to Lillia one-half of his $5,000,000 estate as well as the controlling interest in his company, B. T. Babbitt, Incorporated.

Lillia Babbitt married Clarence Hyde, a New York lawyer, in 1891. She was widowed at age 62, outliving her husband and only child, Clara. With no family of her own, she devoted her life to her many charitable interests in the arts as well as medical research, health care, and education. She established the Foundation in 1924, with an initial donation of $64,000. She served as its President until her death in 1939. The bulk of her estate was bequeathed to the Foundation, raising the book value of its assets as of June 1941, to approximately $3,200,000.

John Jay Watson (1874-1939) was born on his father's farm in Jamestown, Rhode Island. After finishing college, he started his business career with United States Rubber Company, which began his life-long interest in the rubber industry. He also was actively engaged in public affairs and served in the Rhode Island legislature. He was married to Eliza Jane Ralph in 1900, and they moved to New York City the following year. He headed two subsidiaries of U.S. Rubber and organized Lee Tire and Rubber Company, later merging it with Republic Tire and Rubber. In 1913, he entered the agricultural chemicals industry, heading International Minerals and Chemicals Corporation, where he arranged the development of a potash mine in New Mexico, thus freeing the United States from dependence on foreign sources.

John Watson died in 1939. As a tribute to her husband, Eliza established The John Jay and Eliza Jane Watson Foundation, enabling her to continue their many philanthropic works. The Foundation was incorporated in 1949, with Mrs. Watson as Chairman. In 1950, it recorded a net worth of $80,000, from which the first eleven grants totaling $1,300 were made in the areas of religion, education, and social services. Following Eliza Jane Watson's death in 1957, more than $4,500,000 in assets from her estate was given to the Foundation.

In the interest of more efficient management, the two Foundations were consolidated in 1983. In carrying forward the eleemosynary endeavors that Lillia Babbitt Hyde and Eliza Jane Watson so thoughtfully initiated, the Board of Directors of The Hyde and Watson Foundation keeps as its primary vision the principles of these founding benefactors and continues to be guided by the excellence of their leadership.

In 2009, the Board of the Charles E. and Joy C. Pettinos Foundation voted to dissolve the Foundation and transfer its assets of close to $1 million to The Hyde and Watson Foundation. Charles E. Pettinos (1870-1951) found success in the graphite business, becoming known as “the Graphite King.” His will provided that a portion of his estate be used to establish a foundation in his and his wife's names, and so The Charles E. and Joy C. Pettinos Foundation was incorporated in 1951, with Joy C. Pettinos serving as its first President. Each year The Hyde and Watson Foundation makes a number of grants in honor of Charles E. and Joy C. Pettinos.

APPRECIATION FOR SERVICE

It is with great appreciation and friendship that the Board of Directors of The Hyde and Watson Foundation celebrate the many accomplishments and years of exemplary service and leadership of its Director, John W. Holman, Jr.

John was appointed a Trustee-Member of the Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation in 1967, and a Director-Member of The John Jay and Eliza Jane Watson Foundation in 1968. He continued as a Director-Member when the Foundations were consolidated into The Hyde and Watson Foundation in 1983. Through the years he held various offices, which included his role as Treasurer 1971-1992, Finance Chairperson 1991-2006, and Board Chairperson 1990-2008. He also served on numerous committees during his tenure as a Director, including the Executive, Finance, and Grants Committees.

His overall vision of serving the Foundation throughout the years included growth and diversification of the Foundation's portfolio to provide increasing support to service oriented non-profit organizations. We express our high esteem and deepest appreciation to our good friend and colleague, John W. Holman, Jr., for his fifty-seven years of devoted and highly valued service, wise counsel, and advice, with special gratitude for his willingness to continue to serve in the capacity of Director Emeritus.

Bob held various offices, including Assistant Secretary, Assistant Treasurer, President and Vice Chairperson. Bob also served on the Audit, Grants, Executive, and Finance committees, during his tenure on the Board which ended in 2021, when he became Director Emeritus until his passing in 2024.

75th and 100th Anniversaries

On February 18, 2024, The Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation celebrated its Centennial, marking its 100th anniversary. The John Jay and Eliza Jane Watson Foundation observed its Diamond Jubilee on December 15, 2024, commemorating 75 years since its founding.

Throughout the year, The Hyde and Watson Foundation has reflected on the remarkable founders whose vision continues to shape its work today and into the future. Guided by their enduring legacy, the Foundation remains committed to supporting organizations that serve others in the fields of education, health, and social services.

In honor of these milestones, the Foundation's website was updated to include a narrative on the history of the original founders of the Foundations and a luncheon to commemorate the occasions was held with current and former the Directors and Staff.
